

Want a fresh angle on the 25th Anniversary of the Watergate Break-In?*

(*From Inside the Watergate Building?)

On Tuesday, June 17th, talk to the Libertarian Party — the only political party that . . .

- 1 Has its national headquarters right in the Watergate Office Building — six floors straight down from the site of the original break-in. Find out how they feel about being the last political outpost in a building that will be forever tainted by political scandal.
- 2 Owes its existence to Richard Nixon. Yes, the man whose political downfall is intrinsically linked to the Watergate is also, ironically, the man responsible for the founding of the Libertarian Party. Find out how.
- 3 Has spent 25 years capitalizing on the plunge in confidence about government that the Watergate scandal spawned. Find out how the legacy of Watergate triggered the rise of the modern libertarian movement — arguably the most potent force in American politics today — and led to the intellectual prominence of the Cato Institute, books like Charles Murray's What It Means To Be A Libertarian, and the growing success of the Libertarian Party.
- 4 Is planning the oddest — and quietest — ceremony to mark the anniversary of the Watergate break-in. (Hint: It has more to do with a "break-out" than a break-in.)

On the 25th anniversary of the Watergate break-in, you can talk to the same old line-up of felons and politicians — or you can take a fresh look at America's most famous political crime . . . from inside the historic Watergate Building.
